

FIRST HEARING OF IRVINE CASE FRIDAY*Arguments on Demurrers Expected to Be First Steps Taken—Appraisers' Report

Much interest attaches to the first hearing of the various actions in regard to the will of the late Mrs. Elizabeth S. Irvine, which will come up before Judge W. R. Shackelford in circuit court Friday. By agreement of attorneys the court will hear arguments, probably on demurrers, to the petition and various answers that are in it. Two demurrers were filed Tuesday by Attorney Grant E. Lilly, of Lexington, on behalf of William Irvine Greenway, of Reno, Nevada, who is named as residuary legatee under the will of Mrs. Irvine. These demurrers are to the answers filed by David Irvine White, of Huntsville, Ala., and David Irvine, of Kansas City, Mo. So far no attorney has appeared in the case in behalf of the Kentucky State Medical Society to whom the deceased left her home place here for a hospital under certain conditions and stipulations; together with the income from Kansas City property amounting to $2,000 a year for its maintenance. In the event the Medical Society did not desire to use the place as a hospital, the will provides that the home place go to the City of Richmond for a public park.

The report of the appraisers of Mrs. Irvine's estate has been filed with other papers in the case for consideration of the court at the proper time. The appraisers of the personal estate were Messrs. R. M. Rowland, R. R. Burnam, and R. E. Turley. Their report to court is as follows:

Triple Elopement at Caneyville

(By Associated Press)
Caneyville, Ky., May 11.—Three elopements within one week set this town agog. Miss Victoria Taylor, Miss Edna Band and Miss Ruth Bratcher were the brides and Hilbert Snyder, Wilburn Washburn and Ewell Layman the grooms. The local chronicler, discussing the elopements, says: "In all the history of Caneyville, there probably never was a case of triple elopements to happen in one week and there probably never will be again unless the old maids and widow women start the fad, for there is hardly three more left that are of eloping age. There never was so much to talk about since the armistice," he concludes.

IRVINE JURYMEN

Madison county men who went to Irvine and slept on chairs and the floors of the Irvine court house while they were trying the cases of Joe Spivey and George Estes, a few weeks ago, may now receive their payment for their onerous duties. Trustee of the Jury Fund R. B. Terrill has received from the trustee of the jury fund at Irvine checks to pay them. There were about 75 checks in all for those who were not selected are entitled to have their mileage and expenses refunded. Mr. Terrill has the checks on hand and will pay them over to the proper parties if they will call on him.

(By Associated Press)

Somerset, Ky., May 11.—Miss Grace Kennedy, a school teacher, has accepted the appointment tendered by her father as chairman of a woman's organization to further Mr. Kennedy's candidacy for circuit judge. "The women," said Miss Kennedy in her announcement, "are not going to vote to keep men in office a lifetime, nor will they vote to keep in power a political ring that undertakes to name all the district and county officers regardless of the wishes of the people."

RUMORS OF ANOTHER
CHINK REVOLUTION

(By Associated Press)

Tien Esin, May 11.—Rumors of another attempt to restore the Manchu monarchy by placing the captive boy Emperor Puyi on the throne, are circulating in the inner circles of this center of Oriental statecraft. Hints come from unknown sources that such a move is to be made within the next two months.

Speculation of this possibility provides one of the most fascinating subjects of conversation among the Chinese as well as among the foreigners. Here is the stake and the throneless boy Emperor a star character for the development of a plot that may yet focus the world's attention. Anything is possible in Chinese politics for upon Peking centers not only the jarring ambitions of Chinese militarists and politicians but a large proportion of all the diplomacy of the Orient.

CIVIL CASES HEARD
IN CIRCUIT COURT*Blanton's Suit For $6,000 Against Madison Farms, Inc., Goes Over to October Term

Circuit court has been busy the past few days with a number of civil suits. A jury gave C. L. King judgment for $66.90 in his suit against May Coy for about $1,300 over farm transactions. Joe P. Chenault was attorney for King.

J. E. Whitehead, of Garrard county, won a judgment for $138 against Jake Miller. Whitehead who conducts a country store, furnished groceries, etc., to Marvin Frederick, it seems, to the amount of $138. When more were asked, Whitehead demanded a note for the amount due, then Frederick is alleged to have offered a note signed by Whitehead, his father-in-law, with his mark. Later to enforce collection a crop of tobacco that Miller brought to the Richmond market was attached. Whitehead got judgment in the quarterly court and this case was appealed from there. Miller denied having authorized the note given by his son-in-law for his grocery account. Attorney G. Murray Smith represented Whitehead.

The suit of W. E. Blanton against the Madison Farms, incorporated, for a balance of about $6,000 on construction of a number of large tobacco barns, went over to the October term of court. Mr. Blanton is represented by Attorney A. R. Burnam. After the jury had been selected and sworn, the plaintiff obtained permission to amend his petition, to which the defendants objected, so it was agreed to pass the case till October. The Madison Farms Company is composed of a number of Lexington tobacco men who purchased the large farm of Mrs. Nelson Gay, of Clark county, on the Big Hill pike in this county.

The court sustained demurrer to the petition of Harold Oldham against George Goodloe, and granted leave to amend the petition. The case of Thelma Raider against the Dixie Inn was thrown out of court by sustaining of demurrer to the petition.

Aid to Weaker Schools In Colvin Legislative Plan

Frankfort, Ky., May 10.—Geo. Colvin, State School Superintendent, this afternoon addressed the Frankfort Woman's Club, advocating the two constitutional amendments to be voted on next November. One would take the office of state superintendent out of politics. The other would set aside 10 per cent of the state school fund to be distributed, not on a per capita basis, but as the General Assembly may direct, for bringing the weaker schools up to the standard in counties where local revenues are insufficient.

HELP THE GOOD WORK ALONG

An urgent appeal will be made to the good people of this county to contribute liberally in the campaign for the Salvation Army, which starts next Monday, May 17. The quota for the entire county is comparatively small, as only $2,700 has been asked for by the committee. Heretofore the Salvation Army people have sent representatives into this county throughout the year, and the amount collected always amounts to more than the quota asked from the county in this drive.

There is no organization more worthy of consideration than the Salvation Army. Every boy who saw overseas duty will gladly testify to the splendid work of this organization, who had their work right in the firing lines, feeding the Sammy boys and taking care of their wounds and lending a helping hand to everyone in need.

The organization has always done a wonderful work in the cities all over the country, and it is now the plan of the Salvation Army to extend their work into the country towns, and the money that will be contributed in this campaign will practically be used in helping suffering humanity right here in our own midst.

It is the desire of the president of the advisory board, Judge W. K. Price, that all members of the board attend the meeting which has been called for Friday night in the county judge's office at 7:30 o'clock. It is very important that the entire membership of the advisory board be present to arrange for the drive which starts Monday.

Hopes to Play on Thursday

If the rain keeps away long enough President Deatherage, of the Church League, hopes to stage the game between the Baptists and Second Christians that has been postponed this week on Thursday afternoon. He wants to keep up on the schedule as much as possible, he says, and will play this game on the first day that the Normal school grounds are dry enough. He believes that they will be in condition for a good game Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

There were only about 300 cattle at Nunneley's Stock Pens Monday and while there was no big demand for them, all changed hands. The best, good two-year-old steers sold as high as $8 cents. Heifers were a cent to a cent and a half lower. Butcher cattle sold at about 6 1/2 c. There were a few hogs at the pens and they sold at 9c. The mule and horse market was dull and very few sold at any price.

ONLY $200 IN YET
OF CITY'S QUOTA*Some Want Henry Clay's Home Purchased, but Mrs. Mays Says U. S. May Get It

Only about $200 of Richmond's quota of $800 for the purchase of the Old Kentucky Home near Bardstown, has been subscribed so far, Mrs. W. O. Mays, chairman for Madison, reports. Mrs. Mays says that some have objected that Henry Clay's home at Lexington, was not purchased for a state park instead of the home of Stephen Collins Foster at Bardstown. However, she points out, that this place is practically certain to be purchased by the government as a federal park and it is appropriate that the Old Kentucky Home should be that of the author of the famous song.

At the last session of the Kentucky legislature a commission was appointed, known as the "Old Kentucky Home" Commission. This commission has secured an option on "Federal Hill," near Bardstown, Ky., immortalized as the spot where Stephen Collins Foster composed the song known round the world, and which has touched and softened the hearts of every people.

The estate of 236 acres and the beautiful colonial home, together with its valuable antique furniture, relics, and Jouett and Healey portraits, is offered to the state, through the commission, for the sum of $50,000—a most reasonable price. It is the purpose to raise a total of $100,000. The idea is to transform such part of the grounds, as may be necessary, into a park, restore the interior of the house and its furnishings, and throw it open permanently to the public.

Kentuckians living in other states desire so much to preserve her traditions that they have been willing to make initial contributions to hold this option and start splendid movement. Every son and daughter of the state should contribute. Cash subscriptions are now asked from all our people. Any sum you may wish to give, whether it be small or large will prove acceptable. Dollar subscriptions count. However, we hope you will be as generous as possible. There should be 1,000 people who will give $50 each. If every Kentuckian whose heart has been stirred by "My Old Kentucky Home," whose eyes have been filled with tears when he or she has heard it sung, will contribute to this fund—it will be comparatively easy to raise the necessary amount.

OLD DELPHAS

For the past week the weather has been very unfavorable to farming. The farmers are getting ready for corn planting.

Mr. Brutus Sanders, prominent farmer, is preparing for a big corn crop this year. He raised tobacco last year. If he is done with the weed, he is not the only one.

In conversation at a country store, the question was asked, "Did tobacco hurt you last year?" "No, but it hurt my creditors," was the reply. Some say tobacco is a curse to our nation, while others say it is a blessing. I will agree to the blessing, for it has brought a cash system to the state of Kentucky, and that's a blessing, we all know.

The school at Woodland Height closed Tuesday, May 3, and the teacher, Miss Lola Fortune, has returned to her home at Berea.

Miss Fortune was much liked by her pupils and by the patrons of the district. She will be missed by many friends whom she made during the school term.

The Rev. Stoper, pastor at Synloam church, filled his regular appointment the second Sunday. A large crowd was present.

Mr. Herbert Stocker and wife were guests of relatives at Cuzick Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Jane Isbell and Mrs. Gerti Stocker were guests of Mrs. Mary Ann Agee last week.

Mrs. D. Shifflett and Mrs. Belle Herring were guests of Mrs. R. R. Johns last week.

Mrs. Cordia Sanders and Miss Bessie Masters were guests of Mrs. Ellen Chaney and family at Cuzick Sunday.

Mr. William Woods, of Jessamine county, has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Perkins, at this place.

Sunday School at this place is progressing nicely, large crowds attending and much interest manifested.

Mr. Elijah Comley has been visiting his son, Mrs. Smilie Comley, at Edenton.

Rev. W. L. Peel will fill his regular appointment at Bethel church the third Sunday.

Mr. Irvine Isbell spent a day with his brother, William Isbell, in Garrard county, last week.

Mr. Ben Foster and wife spent Sunday with his relatives near Cuzick.

Mr. Elbert Sanders entertained a large number of his friends Thursday night at his home with music and singing. All of his guests enjoyed the evening very much.

Mrs. Nancy Fullilove, who has been ill for some time, died at her home Saturday. Funeral services were held at the home Sunday morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. Fred Sanders, after which the body was laid to rest in the Gilhard cemetery. Mrs. Fullilove was 66 years old. She had been a member of the Baptist church for 42 years. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Belle Hughes and Mrs. Elois Perkins; three sons, Brutus, Willie and Bryan, and her husband, Mrs. Jones Fullilove, besides many other friends to mourn her loss.

GREAT MOVEMENT FOR STATE LIVESTOCK

Is Campaign for Purebred Sire, by Louisville Exchange, Says Prof. Harris

Declaring the better bred livestock movement of the Louisville Live Stock Exchange to be the greatest ever undertaken for the livestock interests of the state, Prof. W. J. Harris, of the staff of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, in an address to farmers at the Bourbon Stockyards quoted figures to show what results would be if continued until properly bred animals were developed.

He asserted that the failure of the cotton crops was forcing the entire south into the livestock industry and that it was only a question of time when the south would become the livestock producing center of the nation. With the herds of Kentucky virtually the only ones of character and reputation in the South and the South must turn to this state as the nearest for assistance in founding and extending its livestock industry, he said.

No section of the world approaches Kentucky in climate favorable to raising livestock, while its wonderful limestone waters and blue grass make it ideal for that purpose. Prof. Harris urged the buying of pure bred bulls at the Farmers Better Sire Sale to be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards by the Exchange and the Kentucky Pure Bred Livestock Association on June 2, as the first step toward bringing this state to its proper position as a leader of the South in livestock development.

Prof. Harris said that figures given him showed that almost a quarter of a million of beef cattle had been handled through the Bourbon Stock Yards last year of which 90 per cent at least were scrub or nondescript. He declared that they represented a loss in profits that would have been made if they had been high grade of from $900,000 to $1,800,000. The address of Prof. Harris follows:

I want to compliment the Live Stock Exchange for the movement they have undertaken, and putting on this pure bred sire sale campaign, and interest they have taken in the fat stock show, also for bringing it here to the yards where it belongs instead of at the fair grounds, where it was out of place.

If this purebred sire campaign is successful and I don't know of any reason why it should not be, it will be the greatest thing ever done in the livestock industry in the state of Kentucky. This is a most completely organized movement and is reaching more people through its systematic publicity campaign, than any I have every known of. Every county is well informed as to this pure bred sale.

I don't know why we could not dispose of a large number of bulls at a fair price. I understand the breeders in the state who are consigning these bulls don't expect a big price. All they want is a fair price and one which the farmers can afford to pay, to carry along with the cows they now have in order to make the farmer money. If sold at a reasonable price, every farmer will be pleased with his purchase, will see what a good pure bred bull can do and the first thing you know, will be saving back some of his heifers sired by this bull, and when they get old enough to breed, will dispose of this bull to a neighbor and buy a still better bull. This better bull will be used on these graded heifers, which he purchased at say $75 to $100 per head. After he realizes in dollars and cents that the pure bred bull is the superior of the scrub and nondescript, he will want only pure bred because he will see that the pure bred will make $5 per head more on market steers.

I think the Live Stock Exchange is coming to the occasion and are just now putting the proposition before the farmers in Kentucky in such a way that they are bound to realize the benefits of taking hold. Now that will not mean so many more pure bred breeders in the state, that is not the idea of the movement, it

THE U. S. ROYAL CORD

Advances tire—and a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season.

The stripe around the sidewall is registered as a trade-mark in the U. S. Patent Office.

How you can measure tire value in 1921

OFTEN it's surprising the number of different tire views that come out in a chance talk at the curb or in the leisure of a friend's garage.

Almost every day you come across the man human enough to believe he can outguess the cut-price tag on "job-lots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks."

His opposite is the hard-pan car owner who sticks year in and year out to a standard brand as the only rational economy.

Many will remember the scarcity of U. S. Tires last year.

A hardship at the time, but a benefit now. There are no U. S. Tires to be worked off—no accumulations—no forced selling of any U. S. brand—no shipping of tires from one part of the country to another to "find a market."

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches. Each one gets its share of U. S. Tires. There is a broad, constant, even distribution of U. S. Tires always going on from these Branches to the dealer.

Buy a U. S. Tire anywhere—in a community of 500 people or even less—and you get a fresh, live tire of current production—with all the original service and mileage the factory put into it.

The owner of a medium or light-weight car stands on equal ground with every other car owner.

Any United States Tire is a universal full money's worth—backed up with a leadership policy of equal quality, buying convenience and price for everybody.

HOWDY WILCOX TO DEFEND VICTORY

THIS clever race driver, reared in the very shadows of the greatest race course in the world at Indianapolis, and winner of the International 500-mile jaunt in 1919, will again be seen at the wheel of a French Peugeot at the start of the 500-mile dash for $85,000 to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Monday, May 30. Howard Wilcox has been racing since he was nineteen years of age, but the only time he jumps to the wheel of a racing creation is at the Indianapolis event each year. He is strong for competition with foreign drivers and it is probable that he will cross the Atlantic to represent America in the French Grand Prix race to be held near Le Mans in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carter and Miss Allie Stagg, of Lincoln county, were with friends here last week.

Miss Geneva Ralston Lackey, of Nicholasville, was the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Lackey, on Woodland avenue, for a week-end visit.

Miss Lucia Burnam is expected home from a delightful stay with Mrs. Frank Jennings in Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Adelaide Everhart, in Decatur, Ga. Mrs. Eugene Walker, Mrs. Tutt Burnam, and Miss Bennett were in Danville this week to attend the Federation of Women's Clubs. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Spurlock and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Thorpe have returned from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Boggs at Bardstown.

Mrs. Mary C. Arbuckle is expected home from Richmond, Va. today, where she has been attending mission school the past year. She will be cordially welcomed by her host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Weaver and children have returned from a visit to relatives in Frankfort.

AT THE MOVIES

Finished to the last touch, a sparkle with brilliant character play, uproarious with fun—such are the slight admirations to describe one's impression of Viola Dana in "The Offshore Pirate," the Metro special production, which will be presented at the Opera House tonight.

When patrons of the local theatres see Bebe Daniels in "She Couldn't Help It" at the local theatres Friday, they will witness the results of a clever bit of head work on the part of the assistant director connected with this production.

The script called for some very important scenes at a railway station. It was decided not to build so elaborate a set in the studio but to take the scenes in the busy Arcade railroad station in Los Angeles.

They tried to work one day—and had to give up because tremendous crowds made the action impossible. But the stuff simply had to be secured. How?—Find out at the local theatres Friday.

NOW that June is not far away, the shops are all showing fine underthings, or the materials for making them, for brides-to-be; and they are entitled to point with pride to the quality and character of this year's offerings. Designs are simple and practical, materials fine and beautiful. Trimmings are not at all lavishly used, but present themselves with a flavor of refinement, which has not been excelled, with drawwork, hemstitching, fagoting, infinitesimal tucks and delicate embroidery, all done by hand. In materials, crepe de chine, chiffon cloth, handkerchief linen, fine batiste predominate and the color favored is rose pink, which is even a little more liked than white. Other colors are shown, but none of them have become rivals of pink or white, except among negligees and dressing jackets or bed jackets. These select what they will in color and their choice falls upon many a flower-like hue in georgette, satin, crepe de chine, with cream-colored lace and ribbon flowers bearing them company.

Two combinations, in which knickerbockers take the place of the usual short petticoats, are among the under silks that entice the bride, to add in most up-to-date of garments to be trousseau. In one of these the bodice is decorated with embroidered flowers and the knickers with a band of lace insertion about the knees, with little bows of narrow ribbon for embellishment. In the other, the knickers are plain and the bodice enriched by a band of fine lace at the shoulder straps of satin ribbon, almost universal in combinations. Fine val lace is not outtrived, it has competitors in net bandings, borders, which make a very new decoration for petticoats of crepe de chine. Applique flowers, cut out of silk, or outline embroidery find the net the ideal background.

MULFORD TO DRIVE AT INDIANAPOLIS

RALPH MULFORD, the racing paragon, who made the smile famous on the speedways of America, will continue his unbroken string of starts in International races when he rolls to the tape at Indianapolis, Monday, May 30, in a Frontenac for the start of the long, 500-mile grind for a purse approximating $85,000. Mulford does not smoke, chew, swear or drink (not even home brew) and wouldn't work a minute on Sunday even if he could complete the preparation of his mount for a big race. He'd rather remain out of the running. He has always participated at Indianapolis and the best he has ever done was third in a Pequot in 1916.

GREAT MOVEMENT FOR STATE LIVESTOCK

is to have more farmers using pure bred bulls to sire steers to come to this market and to be sold to the butchers and packers to make meat.

Mr. W. S. Bell, president of the Louisville Live Stock Exchange, tells me and I have seen it in written reports, that during the year 1920, 225,000 head, approximately, of cattle and calves were sold through the Bourbon Stock Yards. Over 90 per cent of these evidenced that they were sired by scrub or nondescript bulls. A few numbers were sired by pure bred bulls, showing clearing that had the others been sired by good pure bred bulls, they would have brought in advance of $5 to $10 a head, which was the difference these sired by the pure bred bull brought over the scrubs.

I believe Mr. Bell used the figure of $8 per head, that would amount to $1,800,000 in round numbers. $1,800,000 more money would have been paid out to the farmers of Kentucky by breeding with pure bred bulls instead of scrubs, but to be conservative, just cut this number in half, say $4 per head, that would still mean a large amount, approximately $950,000 that would have been paid to Kentucky farmers who shipped cattle to the Louisville market. Now that is speaking in dollars and cents and in order to reach his heart, I believe that is the way to speak to him. If we can show him that the pure bred bull will actually increase his profits to that amount, then he will have no trouble in replacing the scrub bulls in Kentucky with pure bred bulls.

We cannot estimate how big the annual income to the farmers of Kentucky would be if all of a sudden we could wipe out the scrub and replace with pure bred. To give you some idea of the proportion of scrub bulls in the state of Kentucky to the pure bred bulls, we gathered these statistics from the State Department of Agriculture. These are not correct, not absolutely so, as the department depends upon its representatives in various counties to make an accurate report, and these are compiled from those making report in about 100 counties. December 1, 1918, 70 pure bred bulls standing for service fee in the state of Kentucky. On the same day there were 645 grade and scrub bulls standing for service. In December, 1919, we have larger figures perhaps more accurate reports and under conditions which were very stimulating for the production of cattle and find 609 pure bred bulls were being stood for service and 3,373 grade and scrub bulls. Now this makes a proportion of five scrub bulls to every pure bred.

Now that cattle prices are not as good as they were a few years ago, the tendency on the part of the farmers is not to produce as much and not pay as much attention to producing good animals. Now they are absolutely wrong in that contention. The lower you have to sell your cattle, the more you should strive to produce the best. The best is the most economical to produce regardless of how they sell. Some one has said that you cannot get the farmers to see this. I have just been through the cattle pens of the Bourbon Stock Yards and made an effort to see every pen. It occurred to me that if it were possible to bring a large number of farmers, to believe that the scrub bull is as good as the pure bred, to the yards and take them through the cattle pens, there is no doubt but they would be convinced of their error. The pure bred stock from their condition and quality show clearly they are the most economical to produce. In getting down strictly to the subject, Foundation of a pure herd, you want to consider all things before you buy your cattle. First consider, are you in a good cattle country? I want to say to every one of you that there is no section of the world that is better suited for cattle production than the state of Kentucky. Some sections, it is true, are better than others, but take it as a whole, the wonderful Blue Grass section, the limestone water and the even temperature, also the proximity to market, you can't beat it anywhere.

We stand at the gateway of the South. The South is the coming producing section of this country. The boll weevil has gotten such a hold in the South that the cotton cannot be relied upon and the southerners have taken to livestock raising.

There are no pure bred herds established in the South and when the planter starts to establish his herds, he naturally will have to come to the North and West for his selection. We, as his nearest neighbor would be the one he would most likely come to as it would save expenses in traveling, in shipping home and it would not take so long to acclimate the herd. Good grass and good corn producing lands are necessary for the production of beef cattle and Kentucky has both in addition to the limestone water, and even temperature. With the exception of a few cold spells, the cattle in Kentucky remain out all winter, and the farmers are not put to the expense of providing expensive shelter for his stock as it is necessary North and West the winters are severe. This factor should enable us to sell cheaper at the same margin of profit.

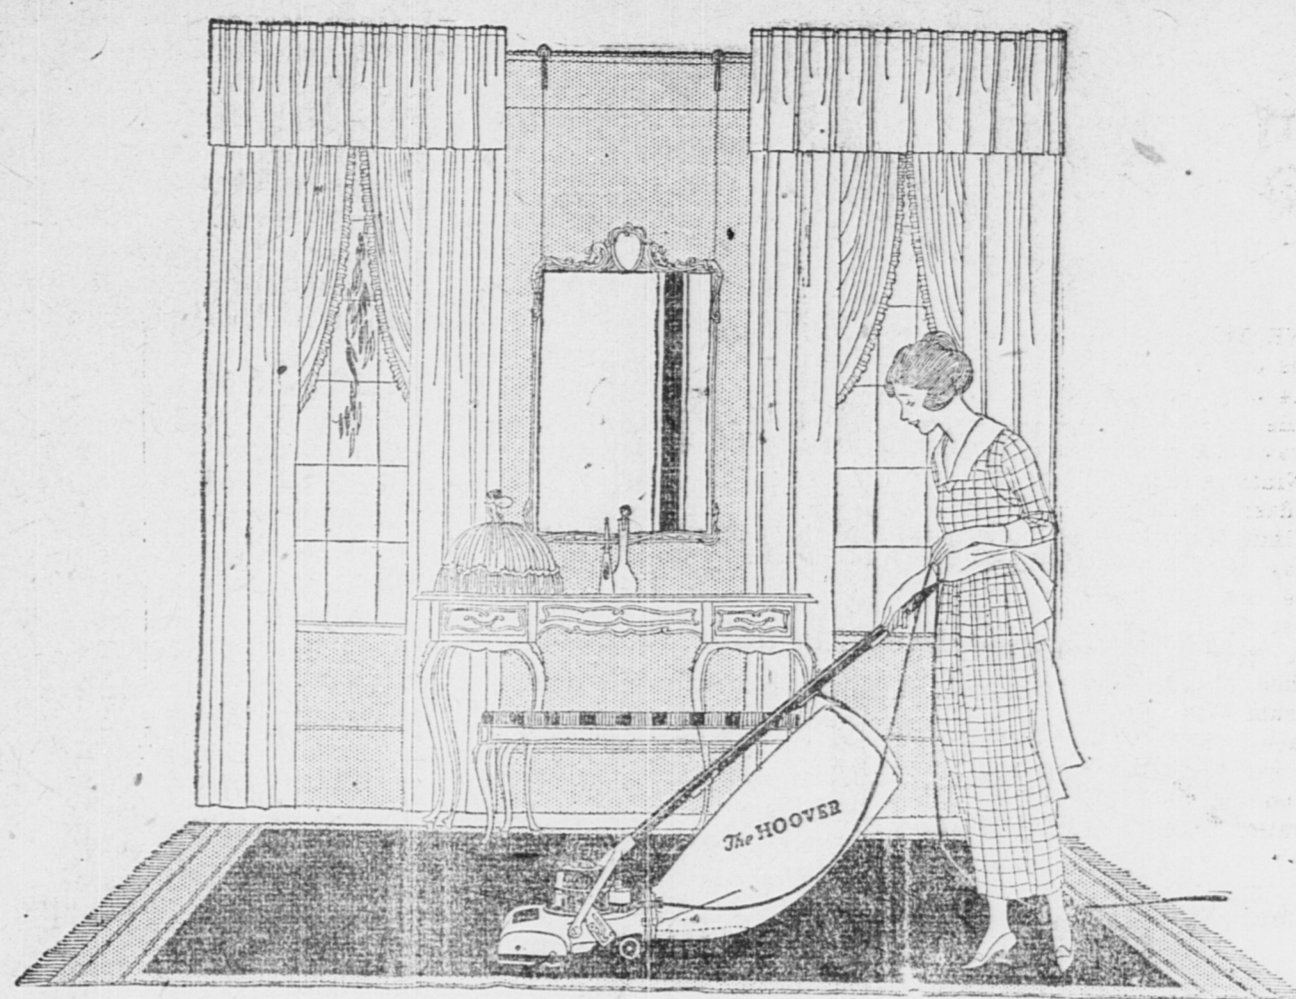

When you talk of pure bred cattle to the average farmer he wants to throw his hands up and shout "Oh My God," and this is where he is wrong. He gets the ideas from the papers where he sees that bulls have sold for $50,000 and more and cows for $25,000 and thinks only of pure bred in these figures. He does not stop to think that he can go into a man's herd and pick out a good pure bred bull, not the fancy show kind, of course, but a good sire, for a reasonable amount of money. It is not necessary for the beginner to pay these high prices. It is true a lot of men go into the raising of fancy herds not so much to make money, but as a fad or hobby. But the farmer who goes into this or a living, his cattle must show him a profit and he feels he cannot afford to buy these pure bred bulls. He makes a business of this the same as growing tobacco or corn. In other words, the farmer is like the merchant who carries a line of merchandise for two or three years and when he finds it profitable, he continues to carry same. The same would be true of the pure bred for the farmer. Now in selecting animals for your

FRENCHMAN MAKING 4TH RACE VOYAGE

ANOTHER French race pilot who has gained prominence on this side of the big drink is Jean Chassagne, who will make his fourth attempt to win undying fame in an International 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Monday May 30. Chassagne has made more trips to America to compete in racing events than any other driver, but last year was the first time he ever finished in the money. He is a clever driver, but something has always happened to mar his success. He has driven a Sunbeam on one occasion at Indianapolis, has piloted Ballots twice, but this year will find him in a Peugeot. Chassagne is determined to get a healthy handful of the $85,000 prize this year.

FAMOUS AIR PILOT WILL FLY TO RACE

EDDIE RICKENBACKER, former race driver, who won undying fame as a flying ace in the American air squad in the late war, will fly from his home in Oakland, Cal., to Indianapolis to be present at the Ninth International 500-mile race, to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Monday, May 30. Rickenbacker formerly competed at Indianapolis and other tracks before his entrance into the war, but since that time the only fast driving Eddie has done has been high in the air. He will leave California several days before the race, flying to Omaha, Neb., as the first leg of his jaunt, and plans to fly from Omaha to Indianapolis the following day. He will be accorded a reception in Indianapolis by the American Legion and by his former racing competitors. Rickenbacker is decidedly popular in Indianapolis, his former home.

"There's a difference between daring and foolhardiness in driving speed cars," said Howdy Wilcox, who will drive a Peugeot in the 500-mile dash at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Monday, May 30.

"There are a few drivers who will continue to speed their mounts even after they feel it giving way under the terrific strain of the gruelling long-distance race—but not me. I can tell by the feel of a car whether it's performing at its best and there is an ever present premonition whenever danger is lurking. When that time comes I drive the car off the track. I remember one short-distance race in which I was leading with but a short ride to victory when I noticed one of my wire wheels weaving, showing signs of weakness. I might have been able to complete the race—and many drivers would have kept right on giving the car the gun—but I drove it into the pits. There is a small percentage of danger when everything is performing with mechanical precision—but when things begin to happen that's the time I want to be on the sidelines."

And we might add that Wilcox won the 1919 International 500-mile race and is noted for his skill and finish in driving.

Girl Staged Holdup, but Forgot to Rob Her Prey

A girl bandit in Chicago let her prey escape when she forgot her lines. She was accompanied by a male accomplice when she met Harry Baumstein. "Put up your hands," she demanded, as she pointed a pistol at him. Baumstein put them up. "Now what shall I do?" she asked, turning to her companion. Baumstein didn't wait to see. He told the police he turned the nearest street corner in record time.

COVINGTON WOMAN HIGHLY PLEASED

Says a Number of Her Friends Took Tanlac After Seeing Wonderful Good It Did Her

"If I could talk to everybody suffering as I did I'd certainly tell them to take Tanlac, for it has relieved me of troubles that made life miserable for six long years," said Mrs. Margaret Hutchens, of 511 Bakewell street, Covington, Ky.

"About six years ago my back, limbs and joints got to hurting and I gradually got worse until I had to use a stick in getting about the house. Nearly two years ago my stomach became disordered and whatever I ate pained me for hours and much of the time I was badly bloated. I could hardly stoop over in doing my housework and finally I got so weak and nervous I just had to give up trying to do anything. I suffered tortures from cramps and pains all over my body and was so miserable I thought I'd never be well again."

"My husband got me to try Tanlac and by the time I had finished my second bottle I was fast getting better. I have just finished my tenth bottle and have no more aches nor pains and am no longer troubled in any way. I am so delighted with Tanlac that I've put my little girl to taking it as a tonic and have also persuaded a number of my neighbors to take it."

LETCHER STRONG FOR BETTER ROADS

Turns Quarter of a Million Dollars Over to State Highway Department

Frankfort, Ky., May 11.—Letcher county's fiscal court has turned its entire road bond issue of $250,000 over to the State Highway Commission to be expended on the road between Whitesburg and Jenkins, by the way of McRoberts and between Whitesburg and the Perry county line.

The only condition is that when the state is financially able, it will expend a like amount on the road. The money was turned over to the department so that it could be expended, according to the judgment of the engineers, without becoming involved in local politics. The Consolidated Coal Company has agreed to purchase the bonds as the money is needed at par. The commission today accepted the proposal.

The commission also accepted the proposal for construction of the state project between Ashland and Greenup. Boyd county will build to the Greenup line and the Ashland Chamber of Commerce will raise $25,000 to meet any equal amount appropriated by the Greenup fiscal court. The latter has agreed to relinquish $50,000 of the money owed it by the state for advancements under the old state aid law, in return for the state's expenditure on the project.

Bell county has offered to turn over to the commission $100,000 for reconstruction of the road from Four Mile to Middlesboro and from Middlesboro to Cumberland Gap, provided the state will take it over for maintenance. The commission accepts the offer subject to formal action by the fiscal court.

The commission will invite bids for the construction of two and a half miles of state maintenance at Lone Oak, on the Mayfield-Paducah road, of concrete, Kentucky rock asphalt, or penetration asphalt. It is an important road with traffic too heavy for gravel.

The commission accepted for maintenance 81 miles of road today making a total of 66.66 miles the state has to maintain.

This Will Help the Dixie

(By Associated Press)

Tazewell, Ky., May 11.—At a good roads meeting here promises were made that the Pineville-Middlesboro-Tazewell-Knoxville link of the Dixie Highway would be completed by this summer. A five-mile rough stretch from the Powell river presents the greatest obstacle to the completion of the project.

MINISTER PRICE FALLS IN AIRPLANE

Friends in this city of Hon. William Jennings Price, of Danville, now United States Minister to Panama, will be interested in his exciting experience the other day in an airplane that turned somersault. Minister Price, Hon. E. A. Morales, Secretary of the Treasury and acting Secretary of Government of Justice of Panama; Hon. Narciso Garay, Secretary of Foreign Affairs, and Major Richard Decker, of the Panama Post and Telegraph department, were making flights in separate machines, flying low in order to see the Isthmus and Canal from the air. While attempting to land at Fort Clayton the machine in which Minister Price was a passenger, became unmanageable from a damaged propeller, and it struck fresh plowed ground and turned a complete somersault, breaking the safety belts and hurling the pilot and passenger to the ground, which being soft, save them from serious injury.

ANDRE BOILLOT IN RICH AUTO CLASSIC

TEMPERMENTAL Andre Boillot, the dainty French race driver, who is coming to America to attempt to get a slice of the $85,000 melon to be cut at the Ninth International 500-mile race to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Monday, May 30, positively abhors unclean nails. In fact, he says, "any driver who starts a race with dirty finger nails does not deserve to win." He is about as outstanding as Ralph De Palma when it comes to the neatness of his driving garb and car as the race starts. Last year he was a member of the unsuccessful invading French team of three Peugeot, but this year he will be seen in a Talbot-Darracq, which is also a French speed creation.

Napoleon's Ideal Woman

The great Napoleon, in response to a question once asked by a lady, replied, "My ideal woman is not the beautiful society belle or the butterfly of fashion, but the matron who reaches middle age in complete preservation of health, with stalwart children by her side."

There are a great many women of middle age who owe their good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that famous medicine for female ills. For almost fifty years this wonderful medicine, compounded of roots and herbs, has been restoring suffering women to health.

LIGHT ELECTRIC

"LET'S take the Milburn" is the common expression in families having more than one car. It is so cozy and chatty; no chauffeur is needed, because anyone can drive this car, and likes to. It is as roomy and comfortable as you please for a party of five.

Away you go as far as you care to and as fast as you ever want to.

And silently, without a motor sound to mar the ideal pleasure of swift motion.

There is no car like the Milburn. We take pleasure in its demonstration.
